

Student Name

Teacher

↑ Enter in Header

Course Title ←Double-space ↓

Date

Bibliography

Alphabetize
by first letter in citation

Author Last Name, first name (alphabetized). "Title of Article." Name of Online Publication. Publisher Name. Date (day month year). Web. Access date (day month year). Summarize, in 2-3 sentences, what the article is about. Be specific; include examples of the author's main points. Explain why this information is important for your thesis (paper). Does the article support your thesis or offer a compelling counter argument? State why you think the source is valuable. Is the author well qualified to speak on the topic? Is the article from a respected publication? Is the information current? When completed, your annotation should provide convincing reasons why it is relevant to the research topic and why it is credible and trustworthy.

Author. "Title of Article." Title of Online Publication. Date of Article (i.e., 30 June 2007). Database Publisher of Online Publication (i.e. Proquest)*. Web. Access date (day month year). For more examples, see MLA Handbook (Library REF 808.027 MLA) or US Library online links in Citation Guidelines.

*If the article comes from an online newspaper or news site, use the following format: